

Tom's Routine

It's early in the morning. Tom is sleeping in his room. Beep! Beep! Beep! Tom's alarm clock is ringing. His mom knocks on his door. She says "Wake up, Tom! It's half past seven. It's school time. And breakfast is ready". Tom yawns and says "Okay, Mom". He turns off his alarm, then he gets out of bed. He puts on his slippers and walks to the bathroom.

He looks in the mirror. He turns on the tap, then he washes his face with soap and water. He dries his face and hands with a towel. Then, he brushes his teeth with his toothbrush. Finally, he combs his hair. He goes to his bedroom and gets dressed. His mom calls him, "Hurry up, Tom. We are waiting for you." Tom replies, "Okay, Mom. I am coming." Tom goes downstairs.

Tom: Good morning, everybody. Wow! Breakfast looks great.

Tom's mom: Sit down and eat your breakfast.

Tom sits at the breakfast table. He has his breakfast with his mom, dad and sister. He eats an egg, some cheese and bread. And he drinks orange juice as usual.

Dad: What time does school start, Tom?

Tom: It starts at nine o'clock.

Dad: I can give you a ride to school today.

Tom: Thanks, Dad!

Dad: You're welcome. Let's go then. It's half past eight.

Tom: Okay. Let me get my school bag.

Tom says bye to his mom and gives her a goodbye kiss. Then, his father drives him to school.

Tom arrives at school at quarter to nine. He meets his friend Ben in the school garden. They go to the classroom. This morning in class, the students are asking and answering questions about their daily routine.

Jill: What time do you arrive at school, Ben?

Ben: I arrive at school at half past eight.

Sue: When do you play basketball, Tom?

Tom: I play basketball in the evening.

Ben: What time do you get up, Jill?

Jill: I get up at quarter to seven.

Tom: When do you do your homework, Sue?

Sue: I do my homework in the evening.

Morning lessons finish at twelve o'clock. The students eat lunch in the school canteen. Then, they play in the playground. At quarter to one, they go to their classrooms and the afternoon classes start. The teacher introduces a new student to the class.

Teacher: Class, this is Julie. Please say hello.

Class: Hi, Julie!

Julie: Hello, everyone.

Teacher: Does anyone have any questions to her?

Tom: Where are you from, Julie?

Julie: I'm from a small town called Ripley.

Ben: What's your favorite lesson?

Julie: I like all of them.

Sue: Do you go online, Julie?

Julie shows her mobile phone and says,
"All the time."
