ABOUT THE BOOK

The Adventures of Tom Sawyer is a novel about a young boy growing up in a small town on the banks of the Mississippi in the 1840s. Mark Twain wrote the novel in 1876. It tells the boy's adventures, often with his friend Huckleberry Finn. Mark Twain later continued this story in his novel The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, which he wrote in 1884. These two books are among the best works of American literature. They both became bestselling books during Twain's lifetime. In The Adventures of Tom Sawyer, Mark Twain was inspired by his own childhood experiences in the town where he grew up. The places in the book, such as Cardiff Hill, Jackson's Island and McDougal's Cave, are real.

SUMMARY

Tom Sawyer is a 12-year-old boy living with his Aunt Polly in a village near the Mississippi River. He enjoys having adventures and often gets in trouble. He is a lazy student and often skips school, which makes his aunt very angry. One day, after skipping school and getting into a fight, Aunt Polly punishes him with the task of painting the fence around the garden. However, Tom tricks other boys to do the work for him and enjoys himself while the boys are working. Meanwhile, he falls in love with a girl named Becky Thatcher. Becky's father is a judge, and they have just arrived from a big city.

On the way to school one Monday morning, Tom runs into Huckleberry Finn, carrying a dead cat. Huck doesn't have a mother, and his father is a drunkard. He lives in the streets and doesn't go to school. Huck tells Tom that he will go to the graveyard that night to see ghosts. Tom decides to go with him and makes a plan to meet Huck when his aunt is asleep. The boys go to the graveyard at midnight, and begin to wait for ghosts, putting the dead cat on a grave. However, they see three men in the dark. One of the men, named Injun Joe, kills another one, Doctor Robinson. He makes it seem like the drunken Muff Potter, the third man, has done it. Because the boys are hiding behind a tree, Injun Joe does not see them. The boys are terrified and run away. Fearing that Injun Joe might kill them too, they promise each other not to tell anyone about the murder.

When Muff Potter gets arrested for the murder and is put in jail, Tom feels very guilty for not telling the truth. His guilt and fear of Injun Joe make him very depressed. Sometime later, Tom, Huck and their friend Joe Harper run away to an island on the Mississippi in order to become pirates. They have a great time there. A few days later, their families and the villagers begin to search for the boys' bodies in the river. They think they are drowned. One night, Tom returns home without being seen and overhears his aunt and Joe's mother talk about the funeral for the boys. When he goes back to the island, he tells his friends about his idea to return on Sunday and go to their own funeral. Huck and Joe think this is a great idea. When they appear at the church on Sunday, everybody is surprised and happy that they are alive. After their return, all the boys at school admire and envy Tom, and Becky realizes that she is in love with him.

Then comes the day of Muff Potter's trial in court. Tom speaks as a witness during the trial and tells the judge that Injun Joe is the real murderer. After this, Muff Potter becomes free, and Injun Joe escapes. Now, Tom is afraid that Injun Joe will definitely want to kill him. Days later, Tom and Huck go to a deserted house on a hill hoping to find some treasure hidden inside. In the house, they see Injun Joe and his partner and watch the two men dig out a metal box full of gold coins. They decide to follow Injun Joe in order to see where he hides the metal box.

One Saturday, Tom and Becky go on a picnic with their classmates to McDougal's cave. When they leave the group to explore the deeper parts of the cave, they get lost. Their friends do not notice their absence and return to the village without them. When Tom and Becky don't show up the next morning, their families begin searching for them with the help of the villagers. In the cave, while he is looking for a way to get out, Tom sees a man behind a big rock. The man is Injun Joe! Tom doesn't tell Becky that Injun Joe is in the cave. Finally, he discovers a hole through which they can escape from the cave. They manage to get home safely.

A few days after their return, Tom goes to visit Becky. Her father tells him that the opening to the cave has been closed so that no one else would go in and get trapped inside. Tom tells the judge that Injun Joe is inside the cave. So, the village men go to the cave, where they find Injun Joe's dead body. Thinking that Injun Joe hid the box of coins under the rock where he saw him in the cave, Tom tells Huck to go back there together. The two boys enter the cave through the hole that Tom and Becky got out and search for the rock. Finally, they really find the metal box. They return to the village with two bags of gold coins. They become very rich.

In the end, a woman named Mrs Douglas adopts Huck Finn. She puts Huck's share of the money in the bank for him to go to college in the future. Aunt Polly does the same for Tom with the help of Becky's father. Now the whole village talks about Tom and Huck with pride, and the two continue to have more adventures together.

Discuss before you begin reading:

- 1 Where did you spend your childhood? Did you have many friends? What games did you play with them? Did you have any adventures? What is your best/worst school/childhood memory?
- 2 Do you think you were a mischievous or an obedient child? Explain why.

B What happens in the graveyard? Read pages 19-22 again and number the events in the order that they happen after Injun Joe and Muff Potter place the corpse in a wheelbarrow.

During the fight, the doctor knocks Potter down with a piece of board from the coffin.
The doctor's dead body falls on Muff Potter, who is still lying on the ground.
The doctor hits Injun Joe in the face and makes him fall down in pain.
Injun Joe places the bloody knife in Potter's right hand, which is open.
While the two men are fighting, Injun Joe gets up and grabs Muff's knife from the ground.
Finally, Injun Joe places the knife next to the dead body, and he escapes too.	14
The doctor refuses to pay any extra money, and Injun Joe approaches him holding his fist up at his face.
Muff Potter passes out, lying on the ground.
Muff Potter threatens the doctor with his knife to make him pay five more dollars if he wants them to carry the corpse to his home.	1
A few minutes later, Muff Potter comes to himself, and Injun Joe tells him that he killed the doctor.
Muff Potter yells at the doctor for hitting his friend. He throws his knife away and begins fighting with him.
Potter doesn't remember anything, so he believes Injun Joe.
With Potter's knife, Injun Joe stabs the doctor in the back.
Believing that he is the killer, Potter runs away, leaving his knife behind.
